

Smart Set's Unusual Stories.

Smart Set seems to be making its recent threat to publish a book that other magazines won't as The Smart Set expresses it, so timid to print. Such a story, "The Bachelor Bachelor," in the June number, is a boy in a small Southern town who studied embalming by and then instructed his mother to work so that she could embalm his body in the event of his death, is a good long way removed from the field of the average American periodical. Edna Kenton's "The Bachelor Bachelor" is another story that the Smart Set is publishing this month in protest against what it calls the excessive old-maidishness of the American magazine editor. This is a very interesting exposition of a feminine theory of sex freedom which is urged by some of the more radical of our modern thinkers. "White Silk Gowns," by Paul Choiseul, may be read as a type of story that many authors like to write but few magazines are sufficiently bold enough to publish. The Smart Set is making a daring attack on existing editorial policies, which will be interesting to watch.

A healthy man is a king in his own right; an unhealthy man an unhappy slave. For impure blood and sluggish liver, use Burdock Blood Bitters. On the market 35 years. $1.00 bottle.

Good Rains.

The heavy rains which began on all Thursday morning came just at the right time for the crops. Something over half the tobacco crop was set last week and by this time the farmers have completed that part of their work. A better season could not be desired.

"Suffered day and night the torment of itching piles. Nothing helped me until I used Doan's Ointment. The result was lasting."—Hon John R. Garrett, Mayor, Girard, Mo.

Hints for Housekeepers.

If your husband is about to make a trip in a sleeping car it is a good idea to empty his fountain pen, quietly and unobtrusively, before he starts. There are several ways of cooking cabbage, but you get about the same result from all of them. Experience has shown that unless the roof of an ordinary tenement house is reshelged as often as once in eighteen or twenty years it will leak in spots. It is hard, however, to make the owner or agent of the house believe this. If greatly troubled by the blackening of the mantles on your gas burners try shutting off the gas and using electricity for a while. It is better to put your money into good books than to hide it away in cracked old teapots.

Muffled Knocks.

"It's awfully kind of you to call so often, Mrs. Shykes, when it's so seldom that I have the leisure to entertain you." "I liked your speech at the banquet the other evening very much, Mr. Glizard, though all I heard of it was the last sentence or two." "Doctor, we haven't had the slightest uneasiness about Billy since you took charge of the case. In fact, he was nearly well when we called you in." "So sorry we didn't meet you when we were traveling through Spain last summer. We stopped, you see, at the expensive hotels."

Accidents will happen, but the best regulated families keep Dr. Thomas' E-lectric Oil for such emergencies. Two sizes 25 and 50 at all stores.

No Suffragette Views.

A visitor at a seaside boarding house went into the local postoffice and, seeking to draw the postmaster into conversation, asked him what his views were as to suffragettes. "Hain't got no 'views of that kind," replied the postmaster, "but we've got some fine postcard views of the new viaduct, the Baptist church, and the new library. Want to look at 'em?"—London: Tit-Bits.

Harsh physics react, weakened the bowels, will lead to chronic constipation. Doan's Regulators operate easily. 25c a box at all stores.

Old French Furniture.

The old French cabinet makers, like the old masters in violin making, had the fashion of stamping their names on their manufactures. Today a cabinet or secretaire with the name of an old French master cabinet maker, maître ebeniste, may bring a great price. Such was the case a short time ago when a commode signed C. O. Gaunier, M. E., brought in Paris $25,000.

Kentucky's Consolidated Schools

CHILDREN are very much like their parents. They do enjoy a good time with congenial people of their own age. In any one room schoolhouse, no matter how fine it may be, the chances are that there will be very few children in the upper grades. These older children crave companionship and often drop out of school for no other reason. In fact, it is not at all unusual to overhear conversations like the following:

"What's the matter? You ain't going to stop school?" "Yes; I'm goin' to stop. I'm past fifteen." "But you ain't through school yet?" "No; I know I ain't, but I'm tired to death of goin' to school every day with a big bunch of little kids. I don't like the boys to see me walkin' with all those youngsters taggin' along the road with me. I'm goin' to stop tomorrow."

If parents would only question their children of school age carefully they would soon gain their individual viewpoint. The child's viewpoint may not be well taken; but, nevertheless, it is his or her viewpoint and therefore has value. It is always good policy to SUGAR COAT EVERY EDUCATIONAL PILL. The small school can never afford the pleasure and the exhilaration which large numbers of children of the same school age can give. The big consolidated schools are particularly strong in this hold upon the older pupils.

How Can They Get to School?

WHenever any one speaks of the consolidation of several schools the above question is at once asked, as though it settled the whole matter for all time to come. There is an almost universal feeling against consolidation in many rural districts. There is a feeling that the children should get to school as their parents and grandparents did. In several sections where consolidated schools have been established in this state (and there are many such sections at this writing) the pupils go back and forth to school on the interurban cars. Naturally, this plan is a very great success. In other sections where there are no trolley lines wagons are used. Some of these wagons are built to accommodate as many as twenty children, so that the cost of transportation per child is not great after the original investment in the wagon is taken out.

"Too expensive," some one says. Well, that depends on what you mean by expensive. It may cost a little more money to get the children to and from school, but there will be fewer colds and coughs to contend with. There will be fewer children behind in their studies because they could not get to school on account of the weather. It is at least worth looking into, especially as some neighborhoods in the state are using transportation with great success and satisfaction to the general public.

YOUR KIDNEYS

Hopkinsville Residents Must Learn the Importance of Keeping Them Well.
